Handwriting practice lines for cursive letters 'g' and 'b'. Each row contains eight pairs of letters. The first pair in each row shows the letter with numbered arrows indicating stroke order. The second pair shows the letter as a dotted line for tracing. The remaining six pairs in each row show the letter as a solid line for independent practice. The letters are written on a set of three horizontal blue lines: a top solid line, a middle dashed line, and a bottom solid line.
